MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 6.—Flood waters from a tropical hurricane that battered a destructive path across Cuba and south Florida forced hundreds of persons from their homes in the Miami area today.

One death was indirectly attributed to the storm in Miami and at least 12 persons were killed in Cuba by the Caribbean hurricane. There were numerous injuries.

The storm raged out over the Atlantic, about 140 miles northeast of Palm Beach, after cutting a 12-million-dollar swath of damage across Cuba and the southeast tip of the Florida peninsula.

Red Cross workers evacuated nearly 200 persons from flooded homes in outlying areas around Miami. But disaster officials said that "the situation looks a lot better and waters are not rising much more."

The hurricane roared out to sea last night near Pompano, Fla., 40 miles north of Miami, after hammering Cuba with 132-mile-an-hour winds, blowing 120-miles-an-hour gusts in Key West and raking Miami with 90-mile blasts.

The exact center of the hurricane had passed over Miami at 7 p.m.

Aside from the floods, damage in Miami was surprisingly light.

One man died of a heart attack during the height of the storm. He was John Gilmore, 42.

Ten Inches Of Rain

Ten inches of rain inundated southeastern Florida as the storm swept out to sea. Flood waters rose rapidly in the Miami suburbs of Hialeah, Sweetwater, Flagler, and Miami Springs.

Ambitious ducks were ordered into the area to evacuate refugees. Early estimates of the hurricane damage mounted to 12 million dollars. The storm left at least 12 dead, 400 injured, and six million dollars in damages in Cuba before swirling across the Florida Straits to strike the mainland.

Miami was raked by 90-mile-an-hour winds which had diminished from the 132-mile-an-hour blow that lashed Havana.

Three tornadoes which whirled off the hurricane's center injured six persons and leveled 12 homes and buildings on the mainland.

Super-Carrier To Be Base For A-Bomb Planes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(INS)

The navy disclosed today that its new 65,000-ton super-aircraft carrier will be able to launch simultaneously four bombers capable of carrying the atomic bomb.

Two catapults installed to permit launching to the sides along with the established pair of bow "cats," makes possible the atomic broadside of bombers as large as the "truculent turtle." This land-based patrol bomber holds the world's distance record of 11,246 miles.

The new flattop, to cost 124 million dollars, will be built to accommodate aircraft four to six times the size of the present carrier aircraft which range up to 25,000 pounds.

Naval experts pointed out that with the carrier able to range over the 90 per cent water area of the earth's entire surface and planes like the "turtle" able to fly 10,000 miles or more, the navy could strike any target in the world and still get its planes safely back to a land base.

Meissner Hamilton and Robinson are not only donating their time to this effort, but also their equipment for showing the pictures, Fire Chief Steinbrink stated.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—The possible use of allied force to break the Berlin blockade was brought squarely before the United Nations Security Council today.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was present. He maintained his "verbal boycott" but sat listening intently and taking notes throughout.

Chairman Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina adjourned after the western powers had declared their resolve stand against the blockade.

Mediation Time Given

This was expected to provide a period of grace in which the Soviets can mediate the firm allied opposition they now face is well as providing opportunity for behind-the-scenes negotiations which may evolve a face-saving compromise.

The United States, Great Britain and France announced their determination to resist the blockade while pressuring Soviet to lift it.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain said it would be "inconceivable" to let the Russians grab Berlin and eject the western powers. He said that force could be used but added:

"To do that would be equivalent to adopting the very methods employed by the Soviet government."

Dr. Philip C. Jessup of the United States, calling on the council to find a solution, said that the western powers reserve full rights to take whatever measures they deem necessary to maintain their position in Berlin.

ibility for any dangerous consequences arising from the allied air hit.

Parodi blasted rule by "the law of the strongest alone" and in a pointed warning to the Soviet Union said:

"A refusal to choose peaceful means and to settle at a nation's own discretion is no longer admissible."

"It is hardly necessary to add that if the threat to peace continues the danger is liable to increase every moment."

Vishinsky Silent

Vishinsky, while silent, paid attention and scribbled notes constantly while the three western powers delegated spoke.

There had been reports that the Soviets would boycott the meetings completely. They already have served notice they will not participate in the discussions.

Dr. Phillip C. Jessup declared firmly that America, Britain and France reserve full rights to take any measures necessary to maintain their position in Berlin.

"This is without prejudice to whatever action the Security Council may take."

Hint Of Conciliation

Observers noted some hint of conciliation despite the strong terms Dr. Jessup used in indicting Russia for employing coercion to seize control in Berlin.

He announced flatly that the U. S. is willing to attend a conference of foreign ministers with Russia on the whole question of Germany as soon as the Soviets lift their blockade.

Another suggestion of conciliation was seen in Dr. Jessup's statement that America is agreeable to the world forum. Washington officials have minimized this possibility but it is not ruled out in diplomatic quarters.

Russian Proposal

There also is the Russian proposal that the Berlin situation be discussed in the Council of Foreign Ministers.

This proposal was at first rejected offhand by the western powers but the United States announced in Paris today that it would attend such a conference as soon as the Soviets lifted their blockade.

It is believed possible that Mr. Truman ordered Marshall home because he wishes to consult with the secretary on the desirability of holding such a meeting.

Mr. Truman ordered his special plane, the Independence, flown to Paris to pick up Marshall who will leave there Friday night for scheduled arrival in Washington at 10 a. m. Saturday.

The conference caused the president to cancel out the fourth day of his campaign speaking tour in New York State and Pennsylvania.

discusses developments at the United Nations Assembly in Paris as well as the Berlin situation.

Reply on Lewis' Attack

As Mr. Truman boarded his train he was asked what he thought of the attack made on him yesterday by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chief. He yesterday said that Mr. Truman was "until" to be president and was "dangerous" to the United States of America.

The Chief Executive commented:

"He (Lewis) made Garner a great man."

He was referring to John N. Garner of Texas, vice president in the first two administrations of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Lewis called Garner a "whiskey drinking, poker-playing, evil old man."

To Return Saturday

The Chief Executive will return to Washington in the shortest possible time after an evening speech in Buffalo, N. Y. Friday night in order to meet Marshall early Saturday morning for a full day's conference on the international situation.

Mr. Truman will arrive back in the capital at 9:35 a.m. Saturday while Marshall is scheduled to land in the President's special plane, the Independence, 25 minutes later. The President probably will motor direct from Union station to the airport to meet the secretary.

The first major stop on the new campaign tour will be in Philadelphia, where the President will spend the greater part of the day and the night.

Western Powers Declare Stand On Berlin Issue

Ability for any dangerous consequences arising from the allied air

Parodi blasted rule by "the law of the strongest alone" and in a pointed warning to the Soviet Union said:

"A refusal to choose peaceful means and to settle at a nation's discretion is no longer admissible."

"It is hardly necessary to add that if the threat to peace continues the danger is liable to increase every moment."

Vishinsky Silent

Vishinsky, while silent, paid dapt attention and scribbled notes constantly while the three western power delegates spoke.

There had been reports that the Soviets would boycott the meetings completely. They already have served notice they will not participate in the discussions.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup declared firmly that America, Britain and France reserve full rights to take any measures necessary to maintain their position in Berlin.

He declared:

"This is without prejudice to whatever action the Security Council may take."

Hint of Conciliation

Observers noted some hint of conciliation despite the strong stand Dr. Jessup used in indicting Russia for employing coercion to seize control in Berlin.

He announced flatly that the U. S. is willing to attend a conference of foreign ministers with Russia on the whole question of Germany as soon as the Soviets lift their blockade.

Another suggestion of conciliation was seen in Dr. Jessup's statement that America is agreeable to Security Council use of any powers accorded it under the U. N. charter for peaceful settlement of disputes.

Some quarters believe this may mean the western nations intend to ask adoption of a resolution under which the Big Five powers will consult informally to decide whether the Berlin impasse possibly can yet be solved through compromise.

It is understood that Secretary General Trygve Lie and Assembly President Herbert Evatt already are sounding out non-permanent members of the Security Council in that direction.

Dr. Jessup ignored the presence of Vishinsky who followed the American's speech closely during the latter third of the address.

When Dr. Jessup concluded a 12:10 p. m. (6:10 a. m. EST), acting chairman Juan Bramuglia of Argentina adjourned the session until 3 p. m. (9 a. m. EST).

TRUMAN LEAVES WASHINGTON ON CAMPAIGN TOUR

Reply On Lewis' Attack

As Mr. Truman boarded his train he was asked what he thought of the attack made on him yesterday by John L. Lewis, United Mine Worker's chief. Lewis yesterday said that Mr. Truman was "unfit" to be president and was "dangerous to the United States of America."

The Chief Executive commented:

"You remember the statement he (Lewis) made about Garner? It made Garner a great man."

He was referring to John N. Garner of Texas, vice president in the first two administrations of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Lewis called Garner a "whiskey drinking, poker-playing, evil old man."

To Return Saturday

The Chief Executive will return to Washington in the shortest possible time after an evening speech in Buffalo, N. Y. Friday night in order to meet Marshall early Saturday morning for a full day's conference on the international situation.

The first major stop on the new campaign tour will be in Philadelphia, where the President will spend the greater part of the day and the night.

In Philadelphia Tonight

Tonight, in Convention Hall where in July, he accepted the Democratic presidential nomination, Mr. Truman will make the first of a series of major talks on the subject of the nation's atomic energy program.

He is expected to discuss the advantages of civilian control of this new weapon, and its potential peace-time uses, over military control.

During the afternoon the President will also make an address at Canfield, N. J.

Mr. Truman, after campaigning in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, will go further into New Jersey Thursday, speaking both at Newark and Jersey City, as well as at points in Pennsylvania through Thursday morning and early afternoon.

delegate of the Ukraine.

Both Vishinsky and Tarasenko attended earphones, at least making a semblance of listening as American Delegate Dr. Philip Jessup indicated Russia for threatening peace with the Berlin blockade.

Soon Vishinsky sat back to read a Russian newspaper while Tarasenko began doodling.

Vishinsky later tossed his newspaper aside and began scribbling notes.

The attendance of Vishinsky drew murmurs of comment around the security council.

Dr. Jessup and British Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan grinned slightly while Alexandre Parodi of France smiled.

The consensus among those present was that Russia intends to be present in time to cast a formal veto on the resolution which the western powers will submit against Russia.

One British spokesman commented:

"This is further proof that the Soviets do not intend to walk out of the United Nations now or later."

Russian sources continued mean while to claim that Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, former permanent Soviet representative to the security council, is en route to Paris to sit in on the Berlin sessions.

REID-DONATELLI VOWS EXCHANGED

Vows of gold colored mums at the altar of St. Joseph's church formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Donna Helen Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reid of 221 Pearson street, and Alfred William Donatelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Donatelli of 42 Jackson street, Lowellville, O., on October 2 at 10 a. m.

Rev. John M. Unger officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin made with a low bodice, a sweetheart neckline trimmed with seed pearls, and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. Her finger tip veil fell from a crown of lace and was caught at the sides with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried white roses and white pompons centered with an orchid.

As maid of honor Miss Anarose Palumbo wore a gown of solid taffeta, simply styled with matching velvet trim and a bonnet of matching taffeta. She carried Talisman roses and blending pompons. The Misses Phyllis and Alma Reid, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in aqua taffeta trimmed with velvet and wore matching taffeta bonnets and carried yellow roses and pompons.

Domenic Romeo of Lowellville served the groom as best man and ushers were David Tommasino and Rudy Donatelli, brother of the groom, both of Lowellville.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bride's parents and at 2 o'clock a dinner was served to 75 guests in the Mt. Carmel hall in Lowellville where in the evening there was a reception for 300 guests.

The newlyweds left on a trip to Cleveland, O., and Washington, D. C., and upon their return will be at home at 42 Jackson street, Lowellville.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The whole vast question of whether the United Nations is to be a forum of world peace or a mere theater for an exchange of explosive international viewpoints was thrown open in Paris.

Action by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky seeking to prevent the Berlin crisis from going on the agenda of the security council brought out in bold relief the fundamental differences on this matter between Soviet Russia and the west.

Vishinsky, speaking for his superiors in the Kremlin, is clearly willing to have the blockade discussed—but only by the big four council of foreign ministers.

The U. S., Britain and France on the other hand insist that the Russians have repudiated agreements and made direct negotiations hopeless.

Security Threatened

Thus they feel that as international security is threatened the United Nations must consider it as a body, with all security council members empowered to take and make recommendations even if they are not directly involved in the four-power occupation of Berlin.

Betting in best-informed circles is that the security council will vote to consider the issue and that Vishinsky will walk out, just as Andrei Grankyo did when the council took up alleged Soviet interference in the affairs of Iran. What cannot be foretold, however, is just what the council will do and what effect its decisions will have upon the future stability of the world organization.

Chief Battlers

The chief battlers so far in this historic struggle are evenly matched.

On one side is Vishinsky, sometimes known as the "Red Fox" of Soviet diplomacy and sometimes as the Kremlin's hatchet man.

On the other is Philip C. Jessup, professor of international law at Columbia University, distinguished calm and scholarly.

Vishinsky has been given an unsavory reputation by the fact that he was chief prosecutor at Moscow's "purge" trials, the still mysterious and unexplained proceedings in which militarists, politicians, executives and even literary men broke down and confessed monumental crimes of treason against Stalin and the Soviet state.

Ludicrous Errors

He also has made some ludicrous errors, such as producing the third in a series of gasoline company's campaign maps of the last war which he used as "proof" that the western allies are fomenting a third conflict.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Words are pictures. When Shakespeare says:

"The weary sun hath made a golden set,

And, by the bright track of his fiery car,

Gives signal of a godly day to-morrow," you see that sunset over your own home; you hope for a godly day for yourself and yours tomorrow.

Don't you get a bit of life, and think of those wonderful spring years of your own, when you read this verse by Charles Swinburne?

"If love were what a rose is,

And I were like the leaf,

Our lives would grow together,

In sad or singing weather,

Blown fields on flowered closes,

Green pleasure or grey grief."

Words can also be weapons.

No need to explain that the word "Moscow" does that for you—Moscow, or any diplomatic gathering where words are being used to fight the wars of lies and hypocrisy that eventually lead to the wars of arms.

But words can still be something else.

Words can be the messengers of ignorance, intolerance, submissiveness.

Let me give you an example.

In my newspaper today there is a story about a musician who, by the magic of music, has been restored from insanity to what the press dispatches call "respectability", and who has been discharged from the institution that confines madmen to the other institution called he "outside world" where so many madmen run around unconfined.

There was that one word which, to me, had all the earmarks of ignorance, intolerance and snobishness.

"Respectability".

This poor chap, high-strung, frustrated, discouraged, had tried to do.

He had become an outcast of our so noble society and finally they had to put him in an institution.

Then a director of musical therapy worked with this fellow patiently and intelligently, and six months later had him composing music.

Now he is cured and restored to "respectability".

It wasn't that poor drunk who was disrespectful.

It was our own society, our own social set-up that drove him to insanity, by denying him the chance to show what he could do.

I don't excuse drunkenness. I

But neither do I excuse a social system that drives people to drunkenness and vice and then builds up its hands in righteous indignation and condemns the poor human wretched that has fallen.

Yes, words are pictures. For instance, to quote from Matthew, Chapter 23, Verse 28: "Even so also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity."

Washington Calling

How Long Would War Last?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The thinking of top air force generals who believe that a war with Russia could be concluded victoriously within one to three months by a series of atomic-bomb attacks at least has been publicly put on the record. While this was done in such a way as to disclaim any responsibility at the top, it is nevertheless highly significant.

The strategy is disclosed in an article in the Air University quarterly review, issued by the USAF's Air University at Maxwell base, Alabama. It is signed by Col. Frederick L. Moore and Col. Gale G. Smith, both air force officers on active duty.

Not Endured

While the review states that articles appearing in it "do not necessarily coincide with nor are they officially those" of the USAF, the strategy outlined parallels closely that advocated by air force policy-makers.

Naturally, the article is based on war with a theoretical "enemy", and the Soviet Union is not mentioned.

The claim is advanced that a very small number of bombers—perhaps only 300—could carry atomic bombs to the enemy's strategic centers in a series of concentrated attacks. These would destroy "a nation... just as surely as a man will die if a bullet pierces his heart and his circulatory system is stopped".

Line of Chiefs

This is the line taken by the USAF policy chiefs in discussions with the joint chiefs of staff. What has not been known is that these discussions have evoked a hot argument.

In both the army and navy there are skeptics who doubt the extraordinary claims made by the air force. One of the most outspoken of these skeptics is Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the president.

Leahy has said bluntly on several occasions that he simply does

"You take your choice—30 days or 30 years."

Hanson Baldwin, the military expert of the New York Times, pointed out in an article this week the extent to which air force generals by their writings have sought to influence public opinion. He cited the inflammatory statements made by men in uniform and

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Light registration for the November election is reported from key cities. A number of citizens evidently feel so keenly about the election as to do nothing about it.

But light registration is taken as a good sign by all parties.

In the event of a heavy registration they take that as a good sign too.

But all parties are interested in the straw votes now being taken. I hear one certain party has put in 10 phones and will talk with either Gallup or Roper Parks.

The way this is said are manifold. A Jester writes: "You're growing old."

Another sends a written page to hope you'll never show your age.

Fickle is Fame, and gold can slip. Even the miser's tightest grip. But friendship is a wealth that's sure.

All disappointments to endure.

Though slim his purse, still rich is he. However old he lives to be.

Who, on his birthday, has a score of friends to wish him many more.

From Me To You

By MESEEAL

EVEN THOUGH HE IS SMALL

As the sun goes down across the sound
And shadows begin to fall,
You see a sight of GOD'S own might
That makes you feel so small.

You think of all that lies out there
The fishermen and their boats;
The lands that you have never seen
And men and all their hopes.

You sit out there in your little boat
And look at the skies afar,
You watch the sea, the earth and trees
And think how small you are.

You watch the tide as it goes out
The sea, the ships and all.
Then darkness gathers over you
And the gulls have ceased to call.

As big as the earth, the sea and trees
The buildings big and tall.
It takes man's control to make it go
Even though he is so small.

Incidental Intelligence

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—Military Medicine. National Defense officials are seriously considering the idea of establishing a new service academy, like West Point and Annapolis, for the training of doctors. If the idea originated in the Surgeon-General's office gets top-level approval, Congress will be asked to set aside somewhere between 20-50 million dollars as the first drop in the fiscal bucket to set up a graduate medical school which would turn out between 75 to 100 service doctors a year.

Get 'em Young. Medical cadets would be enlisted on the college campuses in much the same way that business firms and professional baseball clubs go after promising material. Service chiefs feel that they will get more candidates among undergraduates than among men already holding medical degrees. All pay-and-promotion incentives to lure draft-age doctors into volunteering have failed, and a doctor-draft is virtually certain by the middle of next summer. But with a military academy for medics in the offing, Congress and the nation could be assured that doctor-drafting is a temporary expedient.

Treat 'em Good. Medical cadets off the campus would be promised six years of free education and plenty of practical experience in return for the same number of years in the services. Military internes, in contrast to civilian internes, would live well. They'd get officers' pay plus $100 a month bonus.

Teach 'em Plenty. Medical cadets would study under the best civilian doctors, take a three-year course which covers 13 medical and surgical specialties, leave the services while still under 35 as certified specialists in the line of their choice.

Yes, But. Military medicine is such a touchy subject that no one in the Surgeon-General's office wants to get credit for the idea. Opposition from civilian groups is sure to be violent on anything that approaches socialization. But the harsh fact seems to be that we cannot maintain a large army and air force without tapping a new source of doctor-supply.

Best Seller. Any publisher would give his shirt to lay hands on a typescript which now reposes on the fourth floor of 1337 Connecticut Avenue. The script runs just over 1000 pages of text and has an additional 109 pages of fine-tooth index. The title is: "The Truman Chronicle". The author is the Republican National Committee.

Book of Love. Genius has been defined as "the infinite capacity for taking pains," and on that basis this book is a work of genius. From April 12, 1945, down to June 30, 1948, the daily doings of Harry Truman are noted in painful detail. But it is the only book I ever read in which the index was funnier than the text.

Chapter and Verse. The index runs alphabetically from "A" (Administration) to "W" (Women), and is edited to facilitate study of Mr. Truman's "inconsistencies and contradictions of policy". Under "Civil Rights" there are 44 sub-items and under "Communism" there are 19. "Russia, Relations With" carries six pages of reference including "I Like Old Joe". "Congress, Relations With" runs almost seven pages, including a list sub-titled "Kick Congress Gags". Under "Wallace, Henry" there is the sub-title: "We Understand Each Other Perfectly".

Measuring Stick. Vito Marcantonio is not only a radical member of Congress, but he may become famous as a standard of measurement. Both major parties and several commercial firms run a service which supplies facts about Congressmen. By far the commonest query they get nowadays is: "How did Rep. Whisler vote in relation to Marcantonio?" Special forms have been prepared with Vito's voting record in one column and the other column left blank, to be filled in by request. An informal survey showed that the two Democrats closest to Marcantonio were Helen Douglas of California and John Carroll, a one-term from Colorado.

The Hidden Clew. What does Russia want? The nutshell answer, according to inside sources, can be found in an almost unknown trade treaty which exists between the Soviet Zone of Germany and the Dutch East Indies. This agreement, extending until next July 1, calls for the exchange of about $200,000 worth of goods between the contracting parties. So far the Soviets have exported from East Germany mostly precision instruments: microscopes, laboratory instruments, electrical installations, bicycle parts and photographic equipment. In return the Soviets have received from Java rubber, quinine, shells and kapok.

Deductions. This means, I'm told, that Russia needs the precision plants which flourish in continental Europe, and are not to be found in heavy-handed Russian labor. Also she needs the same South Asia products which tempted British and American interests into the Far East during the 19th Century.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

NERVOUS HABITS IN CHILDREN

Certain behaviors in the growing child, which appear over and over after definite patterns, come to be called "nervous habits". In them are obvious elements of habit and lack of them are also less obvious factors of emotional tensions and conflicts associated in the mind of the average person as "nervousness".

These "nervous habits" rarely appear singly, or if one disappears may be followed by another. Certainly to deal with them as mere habits gets us nowhere. An ex-teacher mother writes of her daughter six years old, who has been under a physician's care constantly:

"She has always wet the bed. We always get her up at eleven but she wets several times between them and morning.

Sucked Her Thumb

"She, as a small baby, sucked her thumb. I put some wire frames on her thumbs and broke her completely in three days but she started a week later to suck her fingers and this habit became much worse than it had ever been with her thumb. She had this habit until she was four when she broke herself, but replaced the habit with biting her nails and picking her nose.

"This nose picking has nearly driven her daddy and me wild. I know we are guilty of nagging her about it, but what would you do? It embarrasses us to death. When we get her eye she quits but is a

POLICE CHANGES IN PITTSBURGH

Action Taken At Mayor's Order
Following Results Of Grand Jury Probe

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—(INS)—A police inspector, a detective Lieutenant and a patrolman today felt the effect of the special grand jury's recent probe of rackets in Pittsburgh.

Mayor David L. Lawrence demanded the resignations Tuesday of Inspector John Dean and Detective Lieutenant William M. Sullivan. They were notified of their dismissal from the Pittsburgh police force shortly afterwards by Safety Director George E. A. Fairley.

The mayor also ordered Patrolman Dennis Timpona suspended from duty, and had action started to dismiss him from the force.

At the same time, Mayor Lawrence outlined a five-point program designed to keep the police department "on its mettle" in the future.

The mayor decreed:

1. Regular transfers for each district inspector and lieutenant every six months.

2. A ruling against any police officer holding a political or party office in the district in which he serves.

3. Continuance of Lieut. Lawrence Malone's special "racket squad".

4. Assignment of plainclothesmen only for special duty instead of permanently to districts.

5. Disciplinary action for any policeman who does not co-operate in effective law enforcement and dismissal in cases of offense is repeated.

Report Chinese Nationalist Forces Leave Changchun

NANKING, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Chinese Nationalist troops were reported today to have abandoned the former Manchurian capital of Changchun to Communist siege forces.

Dispatches to Nanking said the government's Changchun garrison of about 35,000 officers and men fought its way through the encircling Communist lines in a retreat and escape to the south.

The withdrawing troops were reported battling to reach and join the government forces defending the perimeter around the long-besieged South Manchurian metropolis of Mukden.

The Chinese government's entire precarious position in rich Manchuria appeared to be swiftly deteriorating under the blows of a multi-pronged Red offensive.

Earlier, the Chinese Communists were disclosed officially to have captured Ihsien, 30 miles north of the encircled Manchurian bastion of Chinkiang.

being a nervous child. He already stays dry during his nap and now and then all night. I don't think our problem is jealousy for we have practiced everything you have written on avoiding jealousy."

In substance, I answered this mother about as follows: The main problem with your daughter are her parents and the baby, and you would not wish to destroy any of them. In spite of all your precautions this older child is sure she is not loved and approved as the perfect baby is. All along you have centered your attention on breaking the "habit" in this older child instead of the emotional atmosphere and her inner peace of mind. Your task is hard—to say nothing of the nose picking and to have no stirring in your insides over it. Forget all about the bed-wetting for several months. Just armor her bed. Better keep her home from church and avoid company till you get yourselves under control.

by the civilians at the head of military departments.

One of the ablest writers on military problems, Baldwin made it clear that he regarded this as an ominous development. It has been pushed to such a point that it seems as though military men rather than diplomats were making our foreign policy.

How ominous it really is can be measured by the disagreement between the men in uniform who would conduct another war. There is a terrifying difference between 30 days and 30 years.

He illustrated his talk by playing themes from symphonies by Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, and Shubert, concluding with the First Movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony.

Mrs. John Riley Jr., president, opened the meeting by presenting Miss Mildred Miller who read an article, "Juniors" from the Federated Clubwoman's magazine.

Refreshments were served from the pretty tea table centered with a circle arrangement of pink mums and pink candles. Mrs. Riley Jr. presided.

Hostesses were Miss Olive Webb, Miss Eleanor Magill, Miss Mary Virginia Harris and Mrs. Charles Beckwith.

Next meeting will be November 2 when Robert A. Wengartner will be the guest speaker.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 8.—(INS)—A 52-year-old Scranton truck driver's announcement that he had inherited $163,000 from a deceased Canadian uncle was surrounded today by confusion.

Walter Pearson, tagged a "sober and industrious man" by his employer, told Scranton newsmen yesterday of his rich windfall.

But a check in Montreal, Can., where Pearson sold an uncle of the same name died recently, disclosed no one by that name had succumbed in the past year, Scranton newsmen reported.

Neither did the check turn up a law firm of Mackenzie and MacKenzie in Montreal.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Soviet officials notified the Berlin air safety center today that anti-aircraft firing practice will take place today near Bueckesberg-Ketten airlift corridor.

U. S. pilots using the corridor said they had not yet sighted any actual anti-airlift firing.

Yesterday the Soviet held paratroop maneuvers at Nauen, near the point where the Hamburg-Berlin and Bueckesberg-Ketten corridors converge.

IN THE OPEN

I sat at my desk in the early October nightfall, lazily content after a trencherman's helping of steak and home fries. The day's assortment of mail required my indifferent attention and I was consoling along, minding my own business, when a faint familiar bugling from somewhere out there in the darkness pulled me tensely alert.

There is such a constant roar of big planes crossing over the valley that I can't hear what's going on in the night thickets half the time. But there was no mistaking the wild gypsy clamor which swept down out of the northern skies and rolled along overhead.

I rushed out and thrived once again to the derring-do of the October night skies as the great wedge of powerful geese shined across, riding the mysterious roadway lighted by the Milky Way. There was considerable conservation as the old boy out front issued flight orders and listened to constant reports from his wing men.

Wanderlust Tugs

Somehow I couldn't content myself at the desk after that musical bugling had drifted into silence across the southern hills. The tremendous pull of the great flying wedge spelled my whole cycling, and I sat as though chained to the commonplace chores of the account book, while wanderlust tugged at my conscience and in spirit I was riding to some wild free destiny with those courageous birds.

When the geese start moving in October, the countryman knows that the "yellow month" is really at hand and that he'd better get moving if he wants any hickory nuts to crack by the fireside while the blizzards howl. The squirrels and chipmunks are no respecters of persons when nuts are ripe in the flaming thickets.

I walked out to the high point and I looked down across the countryside. Running fires of scarlet sumac and blackberry crossed the hills, threatening to engulf in roaring blazes of color the neighboring woodlands, which still stood aloof in dingy green. An occasional lully poplar showed spots of yellow and a black gum here and there seared the picture with a touch of flaming red.

Country folk were working at something across the fence behind me. I could hear bits of gossip riding up to where I stood watching a hawk soar lazily across far overhead. The breeze stirred the fence rails to fitful spurts of activity and I could hear the familiar "husky, rusty rustle of the tassels of the corn" from a neighboring field.

Far below a black Angus heifer nuzzled eagerly about for the few red-cheeked apples which had fallen from a tree probably planted by one of her bovine sisters many years before. A little butternut tree stood further up the hill, and offered a bonus of the tasty nuts which I collected in a cotton sack. The tree is such a little fellow that I could give it a vigorous shake and bring the nut clusters rattling down, one of them right on my head.

Walnuts Make Showing

Walnuts have made a brave showing hereabouts this year. Everywhere the trees are hanging full, even along the roadways. This is some sort of commentary on the present crop of small boys. Apparently the lure of Saturday foot ball and movies, and the five-cent bag of salted nuts have warded off the extra effort and joys of nutting in October. Are there to be no stained fingers in the schoolrooms anymore?

I marked down two trees jammed to the hilt with fat, heavy walnuts. In another week or so I'll go back there with some burlap sacks and make a real killing. A pair of shagbarks by the roadside compelled closer attention by scattering some clean nuts along the right-of-way. I clambered over the fence and picked up a few quarts of these sweet-kerneled hickories.

On another hilltop which commands a wide vista I came suddenly onto an old burial ground. The church, once a landmark in the countryside, has completely disappeared. There were no signs whatever of the building which had stood there. I noted several markers more than a century old and waded through great patches of myrtle, which has taken over the premises.

In the upland meadows the little ladies' tresses, late bloomer of the orchid clan, held up her braids for all to see. Brilliant berries topped out the fiery dogwood foliage. Soon the first killing frost will stalk across the land some chilly midnight, rallying the legions of Indian summer to fight an even more desperate rear-guard action.

Inheritance Story Is Surrounded By Confusion

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 6.—(INS)—A 52-year-old Scranton truck driver's announcement that he had inherited $363,000 from a deceased Canadian uncle was surrounded today by confusion.

Walter Pearson, tagged a "sober and industrious man" by his employer, told Scranton newsmen yesterday of his rich windfall.

But a check in Montreal, Can., where Pearson said an uncle of the same name died recently, disclosed no one by that name had succumbed in the past year, Scranton newsmen reported.

Neither did the check turn up a law firm of Mackenzie and Mackenzie in Montreal.

Soviets Announce Firing Practice

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Soviet officials notified the Berlin air safety center today that anti-aircraft firing practice will take place today near Bueckeburg-Ketten air-raft corridor.

The announcement was another in a series during recent days apparently designed to hamper the Allied airlift to Berlin.

U. S. pilots using the corridor said they had not yet sighted any actual anti-aircraft firing.

Yesterday the Soviet held paratroop maneuvers at Nauen, near the point where the Hamburg-Berlin and Bueckeburg-Ketten corridors converge.

IN THE OPEN

I sat at my desk in the early October nightfall, lazily content after a tinsmith's helping of steak and home fries. The day's assortment of mail required my indifferent attention and I was coasting along, minding my own business, when a faint familiar bugling from somewhere out there in the darkness pulled me tensely alert.

There is such a constant roar of big planes crossing over the valley that I can't hear what's going on in the night thickets half the time. But there was no mistaking the wild gypsy clamor which swept down the wings of the northern skies and rolled along overhead.

I rushed out and thrilled once again to the derring-do of the October night skies as the great wedge of powerful geese slanted across, riding the mysterious roadway lighted by the Milky Way. There was considerable conservation as the old boy out front issued flight orders and listened to constant reports from his wing men.

Wanderlust Tugs

Somehow I couldn't content myself at the desk after that musical bugling had drifted into silence across the southern hills. The tremendous pull of the great wing wedge spoiled my whole evening, and I sat as though chained to the commonplace chore of the account book, while wanderlust tugged at my conscience and in spirit I was riding to some wild free destiny with those courageous birds.

When the geese start moving in October the countryman knows that the "yellow month" is really at hand and that he'd better get moving if he wants any hickory nuts to crack by the fireside while the blizzards howl. The squirrels and chipmunks are no respecters of persons when nuts are ripe in the flaming thickets.

I walked out to the high point and I looked down across the countryside. Running fires of scarlet sumac and blackberry crossed the hills, threatening to engulf in roaring blazes of color the neighboring woodlands, which still stood aloof in dingy green. An occasional tulip poplar showed spots of yellow and a black gum here and there seared the picture with a touch of flaming red.

Country folk were working at something across the fence behind me. I could hear bits of gossip riding up to where I stood watching a hawk so lazily across for overhead. The breeze stirred the fence rows to fitful spurts of activity and I could hear the familiar "husky, rusty rustle of the tassels of the corn" from a neighboring field.

Far below a black Angus heifer nuzzled eagerly about for the few red-cheeked apples which had fallen from a tree probably planted by one of her bovine sisters many years before. A little butternut tree stood further up the hill, and offered a bonus of the tasty nuts which I collected in a cotton sack. The tree is such a little fellow that I could give it a vigorous shake and bring the nut clusters rattling down, one of them right on my head.

Walnuts Make Showings
Walnuts have made a brave showing hereabouts this year. Everywhere the trees are hanging full, even along the roadways. This is some sort of commentary on the present crop of small boys. Apparently the lure of Saturday football and movies, and the five-cent bag of salted nuts have wood current youngsters away from the extra effort and joys of nutting in October. Are there to be no stalwart fingers in the schoolrooms anymore?

I marked down two trees jammed to the hilt with fat, heavy walnuts. In another week or so I'll go back there with some burlap sacks and make a real killing. A pair of shagbarks by the roadside compelled closer attention by scattering some clean nuts along the right-of-way. I clambered over the fence and picked up a few quarts of these sweet-kernelled hickories.

On another hilltop which commands a wide vista I came suddenly onto an old burial ground. The church, once a landmark in the countryside, has completely disappeared. There were no signs whatever of the building which had stood there. I noted several markers more than a century old and waded through great patches of myrtle, which has taken over the premises.

In the upland meadows the little ladies' tresses, late bloomer of the orchid clan, held up her bracts for all to see. Brilliant berries topped off the fiery dogwood foliage. Soon the first killing frost will stalk across the land some chilly midnight, rallying the legions of Indian summer to fight an even more desperate rear guard action.

Federal Old-Age Plan Needs Study By Many

"How many young mothers, whose husbands are working under social security realize the protection afforded them by the federal program?" This question was asked old-age and survivors insurance today by Myron Milbauer, manager of the New Castle field office of the Social Security Administration.

"Very few," is the correct answer, according to Mr. Milbauer, who should know since it is through his office that survivors' claims for social security benefits are filed. "It is safe to say that not one in five of the hundreds of young widows who have filed claims for monthly benefits during the eleven years this office has served Lawrence county, had any idea, before the wage earner's death, that they and the children under 18 who were in their care, might be eligible for regular monthly benefit checks until the children reached age 18."

Mr. Milbauer emphasizes that in general, workers under social security are fully insured in case of death, if they have worked roughly half the time after 1936, to and including the quarter of death. Older workers, depending on their age may not even need to have worked half the time. Moreover, workers may be "currently insured" if they have been paid at least $50 in six or more calendar quarters during approximately the three years preceding death.

For instance, one widow is getting $18.67 for herself, and $12.44 for her 13-year-old daughter, until the child is 18. She will also be qualified for her own benefits of $18.67 when she reaches age 65, provided she does not remarry. Benefits, of course, are not payable for any months a beneficiary earns $15 or more under social security.

Most people under social security, do realize that they and their wives may be entitled to retirement benefits at 65, but do not understand that the survivors rights may perhaps be equally important.

The New Castle office is located at 500 Frew Building, 10 West Washington street. There is no charge of any kind for information or help in the filing of claims for benefits.

Plan Field Trials At Beagle Club Grounds At Volant

(Special To The News)

VOLANT, Oct. 6.—Promptly at 8 o'clock each morning from October 8 to 14 classes will be drawn for the field trials which will be run at the club training grounds of the Shenango Valley Beagle club, near here. With the exception of the trial in Indiana county, this will be the only one being held in the state on these dates.

John Greer, secretary-treasurer of the club, has announced that the kennels are in readiness for an expected large field, that there will be accommodations on the grounds for the hounds, that there seems to be a good supply of rabbits, and that no effort has been spared to endeavor to make this year's trials superior in every way.

In addition to the preparation for making all factors contributing to the dogs' welfare measure up to the club's usual standard, the dogs' owners have not been forgotten. Clubhouse equipment is ready, the Auxiliary has arranged a schedule for the days of the trial, and will meet in the clubhouse Thursday evening to put the last touches to the plans. Luncheon will be served each day by the ladies, and all who attend the trials may relax in the comfort of the spacious room of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stauffer and Mrs. Hugh Thompson, of Tarentum, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wurster, of Zelienople, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burton, of New Castle, and Mrs. Jennie Engleman, of New Castle, were callers at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Weisz this week.

The long-haired, short-legged terriers, with long and silky covering were originally developed in northern Scotland. They are the Scotch, a rough wire-haired variety; the Dandie Dinmont with a woolly coat, and the Skyes and Clydesdales with long, silky coats.

CHILLY ESCAPE

AUSTIN, Tex.—A teen-age patient recently escaped through a window from the Austin State Hospital, an institution for the im-sane. The escape was more or less routine but hospital officials began to worry when no one reported seeing the boy in 48 hours. The patient had left without his clothes—all of them.

Jet Planes Flown By Radio Control

Air Force Officials Disclose Latest Advances in Air Fighting Program

By JOHN DRUCKENBROD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
VALPARISO, Fla., Oct. 6.—Air Force officials disclosed today that F-80 jet planes and jet-driven "buzz bombs" have been successfully flown by radio control.

The disclosures came in connection with the display in new air fighting and bombing techniques in the joint Army, Navy and Air Force war games—"Operation Combine".

Among the new developments are bombs which are guided to their targets by television and heat, and a new parachute which ends down the hazard of jumping from jet and rocket planes.

Radio Control Achieved
Radio control of the F-80 "Shooting Star" was achieved only recently at the Alamogordo, N. M. Air Base. The plane, which has attained a speed of more than 520 miles an hour, is the first jet aircraft to be flown by remote control. Conventionally-propelled planes having long been flown by radio.

Similarly, the guiding of the U. S. Air Force counterpart of the German V-1 "buzz bomb" which terrorized London during the war, greatly enhances its accuracy. As fired by the Germans, the bomb was merely aimed in the general direction of the target, but could not be controlled once it took off.

Bombs on Display

The "heat seeking" and "television" bombs were put on display before some 600 officers and newspapermen at the Elgin Air Field, where the war games are taking place.

The shows are to include maneuvers by crack Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots and some 450 planes.

The "heat" bomb has an especially sensitive probe which seeks out any target giving off more heat than its surrounding—a ship's funnel, for example, or a blast furnace. The "television" bomb carries a complete television sending set which relays a picture of the target back to the bombardier, who may then re-direct it by radio to score a direct hit.

BRIDE'S TROUSSEAU

"Tell me, please, just what should be included in a bride's trousseau and linens. I am engaged and wish to start my collection of necessary items to take to my new home."

Answer: Linens of every description should be included in the bride's "linens"—bedroom linens should include sheets, pillow cases, bedspreads, blankets and quilts; bureau and dresser covers; towels of all classes are necessary—small, dainty guest towels; hand, face and bath towels; face cloths, bath mats and dish and hand towels; for your kitchen.

Your most important household linen is that for your dining room. Every bride should possess large and small damask table cloths with napkins to match; breakfast, luncheon and tea cloths with accompanying napkins; doilies for bread and cake plates; scarfs or covers for the dining table, buffet, serving table. The quantity of each should depend upon your social life, how much entertaining you will do and how much you wish to spend for laundry.

The quantity as well as the quality of your trousseau depends entirely upon a number of circumstances. For instance, how you will live and where . . . what your social life will be . . . whether your husband is in the lower or the upper or medium financial bracket . . . whether you will keep your

Prolonged Showers
Needed In State

HARRISBURG, Oct. 6.—(INS)—A six-weeks drought today was broken by rainfall, but prolonged showers were believed necessary to refresh parched soil.

Many sections of the state have had less than one-third normal rainfall, the state agriculture department reported, and the ground is too dry to plow.

Pastures were said to be very dry, necessitating stable feeding of cattle in some cases.

Wheat plantings generally were delayed for lack of rainfall, the department said, but grain planted early was up "and doing well."

Excellent potato yields were recorded while the buckwheat harvest was underway with output average or above.

Demand For Workers Here

Manager Of State Employment Office Says Labor Shortage Exists

There has been a decrease of more than 1,000 claims on file at the State Employment office this year. The trend has been gradual and is noticeable each month in claims for state compensation and veterans claims under the Service Men's Readjustment Act.

In fact, Lawrence county is experiencing a shortage of skilled and unskilled laborers. George Gettings, manager of the local State Employment office, stated today. The placing of 267 persons last month was scraping the bottom of the barrel of the county's labor supply.

Placements in Lawrence county totaled 200 and 50 more were made for out-of-town positions, mostly in Youngstown. Veterans constituted almost one-half of the 112 male placements in the county. Manufacturing concerns hired 32 per cent of the newly placed workers. Other leading fields in which persons were placed by the local office are agriculture, wholesale and retail trade, and domestic employment.

Mr. Gettings was proud of the fact that 16 handicapped workers were among those securing jobs last month through the employment office. He cited a 41-year-old veteran, discharged three years ago, as an example of what is being done in Lawrence county for handicapped workers. The veteran was discharged from service with a leg disability and required additional treatment at Dayton hospital. The doctors advised him that he should be off his feet at least 50 per cent of the time. He was unable to find steady employment until he consulted a local firm that uses the Selective Placement Technique. Now he has a position as a machine operator, is off his feet half of the time, and both he and the employer are well satisfied with the result.

For luncheon, spread grated cheese on thin crackers, season with a little paprika, and heat in a quick oven until the cheese is melted. Serve them with soup or salad. Thin slices of toasted bread may be used instead of crackers.

Japan's Problem: Too Many People

That Nobody Knows What To Do About Situation Is Generally Admitted

TOKYO, Oct. 6—(INS)—Japan has too many people and nobody knows what to do about it.

That is the best answer anyone in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters or in the Japanese government can give.

Both American and Japanese officials are at work constantly on the population problem, the Japanese from the point of view of survival and the Americans because they recognize population as the fundamental Japanese problem—the problem from which almost every situation stems.

Americans fear that unless the issue is solved some way Japan might once again follow a pied piper who sings of "living space" on some one else's land.

Population Problem

The problem of population is obvious. The charts show there were 55 million persons in Japan in 1920. Currently there are more than 80 million.

Your eyes see masses in town and country. Street cars bulge with people clinging to the outside of doors and windows. Country roads are jammed from morning until night with children playing and men and women working.

Food ration distribution centers draw long queues in the villages as well as in Tokyo or Osaka. Lines four and five blocks long form before movie houses.

One Japanese said:

"The thing that bothers me most about my country is that I can never be alone. I even climbed into the mountains once to be alone, but there were other people there, too."

The Japanese population experts say there are 20 million too many people in these islands.

Pioneer Spirit Is Needed Today

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6—(INS)—The old pioneer spirit that helped make America great is needed today to make the United Nations work.

Mrs. Dorothy Lewis, co-ordinator of women's broadcast for the UN, told a group of community chest workers in Pittsburgh Tuesday that the world organization is trying to do on a world level what members of a family do for one another.

Mrs. Lewis said:

"The world is now a neighborhood—it is not yet a brotherhood. But most people are good samaritans. We've got to preserve the barn-raising and quilting party quality because it is a spiritual quality."

TIPS TO MOTHERS ABOUT SCHOOL LUNCHES

Whether a child carries his lunch or gets it at school, it is important for mothers to see that all meals of the day are well balanced. Children should protect their health. Children who are well-fed can study better, are more alert, and will receive better marks.

The lunch should be a full meal in itself, not a snack. It should contain one-third to one-fourth of the child's food needs for the day. Sandwiches are usually the main part of a packed lunch. Include two or more, depending on the age and the appetite of the child. Use whole-wheat bread often. Hearty sandwich fillings may be made from meat, fish, peanut butter, cheese, and eggs. Dried fruit fillings used occasionally add variety and help satisfy the sweet tooth.

Steaming soups and other hot dishes are always welcome additions to a packed lunch. For children who do not have packed lunches supplemented with hot foods at school, a thermos bottle should be standard lunch-box equipment.

Include raw vegetables such as carrot strips, celery, cabbage, wedges, or tomatoes, in the lunch box. Fresh or canned fruits are appetizing and nutritious. Put canned food in small jars with tight lids. A few cookies, unfrosted cakes, custard, or simple puddings will carry well and be enjoyed.

Every child should receive milk at the noon meal—either as a beverage or in soup. Milk will stay cold in a thermos bottle.

Further information on school lunches may be secured from the Agricultural Extension Office, 208 Post Office building, New Castle;

Orientation At Senior High For New Sophomores

On Thursday morning, the Sophomore class of Senior High school will have the last assembly of a three program orientation series sponsored by the Student Council. These programs are designed to enable the schools 575 newcomers to learn the "whys and wherefores" of their alma mater.

Teaching the words of the school song and explaining the various traditions of the school were the objectives of the first program. The school colors and creed were explained and the ax tradition, attaching the colors of each graduating class to an ax handle, demonstrated.

In the second program, President Myron Frank of Student Council explained the organization of his group, its purpose and accomplishments. Seven chairmen of the various council committees were introduced and they explained the functions of their respective committees.

At Thursday's meeting, representatives of the many clubs and organizations at senior high will discuss the nature of their groups and tell the Sophomores how they can become members.

The purpose of the orientation series is to enable new students in the building to more quickly take an active part in the school's many functions. According to Miss Bernice Bartlett, faculty advisor of Student Council, the programs have been very successful to date.

New Scientific Discovery Made

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(INS)—The navy announced today that its scientists have made the first infra-red measurements ever taken of the sun at an altitude of 35,000 feet.

The data, recorded from an air force B-29 during a flight from Andrews Field, Md., to Great Barrington, Mass., is expected to be valuable in meteorological forecasting.

The navy explained that infra-red rays from the sun play an important part in giving the sensation of heat, and that without heat absorption in the atmosphere, life on earth might be impossible.

There is a difference of more than 11,000 feet between the highest and lowest points in the state of Colorado.

Mine Workers In Convention

Get Down To Business After Hearing Lewis Ann President Truman

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—(INS)—United Mine Workers union delegates get down to convention business today after hearing their chieftain, John L. Lewis, assail President Truman as "dangerous . . . to the entire United States."

Lewis leveled his blast at Mr. Truman at the union's opening convention session in Cincinnati yesterday. He bitterly assailed the president for prosecuting the UMW in recent coal strikes and called on the miners to "do something about it" at the Nov. 2 election.

The 3,000 delegates cheered lustily as Lewis ripped into Mr. Truman and declared:

"He is a man totally unfitted for the position. His principles are elastic. He is careless with the truth."

A roaring "no" went up from the delegates when Lewis shouted: "Will President Truman be the future president?" One lone blast of "yes" was heard in the galleries in answer to Lewis' rhetorical question.

Lewis, who supported the late President Roosevelt in 1936 and then swung his support to the Republican presidential candidate, the late Wendell Willkie in 1940, made no reference in his speech to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the G.O.P. standard-bearer in this year's election.

Initiatory plans under direction of Mrs. Belle Kennedy will be made for meeting of November 4. Junior will meet at 6:30.

With Your Heart . . .

Once again the good citizens of our community are asked to come forward and support their educational, recreational and charitable institutions. No one of us can deny the value of the services these various organizations render our locality. Neither can we deny the fact that it is a great convenience to all of us to have all of these appeals for assistance combined into one drive. Starting October 13th, you will be asked to make your pledge of assistance. The cost of maintaining and operating these various agencies has increased greatly during the past year. Thus it is necessary to provide a greater sum than ever before. This simply means that each of us will be required to give more this year . . . to be more generous than ever before.

Remember . . . this is your community . . . these are your institutions . . . this is your responsibility. Remember too, that when the solicitor knocks at your door, be cheerful as well as generous. These volunteer collections are rendering a great community service. They are giving their time, their energy . . . and their money. So prepare NOW to give to your Community Chest.

Volunteers Wanted

The most difficult part of the drive for Community Chest funds is to get enough volunteers to collect the pledges. In some years past it has meant the difference between meeting the quota ON TIME or having it drag on an extra week or two. Folks, everywhere, in city and in rural areas are willing to give . . . providing someone will call at their home or office. While many willing hands have indicated their intentions of assisting, there are still some sections of our community open. The committee prefers to have folks who are known in their immediate district. How about you? Will you give one or two evenings of your time to assist in this very worthwhile cause? Simply call the Chest Headquarters at 20½ East Washington Street—Telephone 2572 and tell them that you are ready to help. The more workers we have the quicker we will achieve our goal.

Two Equity Cases Ask Adjudication

One Asks Division Of Bank Account, Other Asks Property Under Pre-Marriage Agreement

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Two equity cases have been filed in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar in which an adjudication is asked of money and property.

Jack B. Burke asks for an accounting of money in the Citizens National bank placed by him and Anna R. Burke who he terms his common law wife. The case is directed against Anna R. Burke and the Citizens National bank.

In his claim Mr. Burke says he and Anna R. Burke entered into a common law marriage November 9, 1948. He had $400 in the bank which represented a soldiers' bonus paid by the State of Ohio. Later $1,100 was placed in the bank in Anna R. Burke's name. He claims that Anna R. Burke now intends to leave the city and asks that he be given the $400 bonus money and half of the money left after it is taken out. He asks an accounting of any money taken out.

Florence Mornes files an equity suit against the Lawrence Savings and Trust Co., trustee for Archibald R. Mornes, Dr. Edwin D. Jackson, George Mornes, Charles Hammond, Sr., Eileen Scheidemantle, Rea Marshall, Lytie Betty Duff and Christine Marshall.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that before she and Archibald R. Mornes were married he entered into an agreement guaranteeing to bequeath to her all his estate in excess of $6,000.

She alleged that prior to May 20, 1947, Mr. Mornes had an estate valued at about $20,000. That on May 20, 1947, he made a deed to the defendants for about $14,000, which she claims was made to cheat and defraud her. Mr. Mornes died September 11, 1948.

Mrs. Mornes asks that she be given the estate under the terms of the agreement entered into prior to the marriage.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6.—Bette Davis is re-decorating her nursery. But don't jump to conclusions. She's not having another baby, but she does have money enough to indulge her whims. And think of how tired little Barbara Sherry must be of looking at the same wall paper. She's all of going-on two years old.

Bette, who is clicking now in "June Bride", is in New York for the opening later this month. And happy as a lark over what comes next.

Brand New Play
That'll be "Affair Number Five", which "June Bride" author, Randal MacDougall, is writing for Miss Davis and Robert Montgomery's next vehicle.

She'll play the role of a temperamental actress (and who could do this better?) and Montgomery will be a business man who tries to interest her—in his line of cosmetics. Production will start early in 1949.

BRIAN EXCITED

An excited 14-year-old English boy was scheduled to begin a flight to Hollywood and possible fame and fortune today. He's Brian Roper, who won the role of "Blicker" in "The Secret Garden", which Metro will make as Margaret O'Brien's next. More than 100 boys were tested for this role during the past six month's search. Clarence Brown will direct the movie, which Claude Jarman outwrote.

Report American Piloted Chinese Plane Is Buzzed

SHANGHAI, Oct. 6.—(INS)—For the second time in two days, P-39 fighters with Soviet markings buzzed an American-piloted Chinese commercial plane today.

The incident was disclosed by the Shanghai headquarters of the China Air Transport company which is headed by Gen. Claire Chennault, wartime chief of the famed "Flying Tigers".

The announcement stated a C-46 transport flown by an American pilot was buzzed by three or four Soviet P-39's for about 15 or 20 minutes at a point 20 miles west of Port Arthur.

The transport was on a scheduled flight from the Communist-besieged Manchurian city of Mukden to the North China port of Tsingtao when the buzzing occurred.

Yesterday a China Air Transport plane, flying the same route, was buzzed in the same vicinity.

Last March a plane of the same company was fired upon by Russian fighters near Port Arthur, bringing a protest from the Chinese government. Port Arthur belongs to China but is occupied by the Russians until a peace treaty with Japan is signed.

Two Equity Cases Ask Adjudication

One Asks Division Of Bank Account, Other Asks Property Under Pre-Marriage Agreement

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Two equity cases have been filed in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar in which an adjudication is asked of money and property.

Jack B. Burke asks for an accounting of money in the Citizens National bank placed by him and Anna R. Burke who he terms his common law wife. The case is directed against Anna R. Burke and the Citizens National bank.

In his claim Mr. Burke says he and Anna R. Burke entered into a common law marriage November 9, 1945. He had $400 in the bank which represented a soldiers' bonus paid by the State of Ohio. Later $1,140 was placed in the bank in Anna R. Burke's name. He claims that Anna R. Burke now intends to leave the city and asks that he be given the $400 bonus money and half of the money left after it is taken out. He asks an accounting of any money taken out.

Florence Mornes files an equity suit against the Lawrence Savings and Trust Co., trustee for Archibald R. Mornes, Dr. Edwin D. Jackson, George Mornes, Charles Hammond, Sr., Eileen Scheidemann, Bea Marshall, Lytle, Betty Duff and Christine Marshall.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that before she and Archibald R. Mornes were married he entered into an agreement guaranteeing to bequeath to her all his estate in excess of $6,000.

She alleges that prior to May 20, 1947, Mr. Mornes had an estate valued at about $20,000. That on May 20, 1947, he made a deed to the defendants for about $14,000, which she claims was made to cheat and defraud her. Mr. Mornes died September 11, 1948.

Mrs. Mornes asks that she be given the estate under the terms of the agreement entered into prior to the marriage.

Drive Starts
October 13th

Once again the good citizens of our community are asked to come forward and support their educational, recreational and charitable institutions. No one of us can deny the value of the services these various organizations render our locality. Neither can we deny the fact that it is a great convenience to all of us to have all of these appeals for assistance combined into one drive. Starting October 13th, you will be asked to make your pledge of assistance.

The cost of maintaining and operating these various agencies has increased greatly during the past year. Thus it is necessary to provide a greater sum than ever before. This simply means that each of us will be required to give more this year . . . to be more generous than ever before.Remember . . . this is your community . . . these are your institutions . . . this is your responsibility. Remember too, that when the solicitor knocks at your door, be cheerful as well as generous. These volunteer collections are rendering a great community service. They are giving their time, their energy . . . and their money. So prepare
NOW to give to your Community Chest.

Volunteers Wanted

The most difficult part of the drive for Community Chest funds is to get enough volunteers to collect the pledges. In some years past it has meant the difference between meeting the quota ON TIME or having it drag on an extra week or two. Folks, everywhere, in city and in rural areas are willing to give . . . providing someone will call at their home or office. While many willing hands have indicated their intentions of assisting, there are still some sections of our community open. The committee prefers to have folks who are known in their immediate district. How about you? Will you give one or two evenings of your time to assist in this very worthwhile cause?
Simply call the Chest Headquarters at 20½ East Washington Street—Telephone 2572 and tell them that you are ready to help. The more workers we have the quicker we will achieve our goal.

Indians And Braves Ready For Thrilling World Series

Feller And Sain Will Hook Up In Mound Duel

By DAVID J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—(INS)—The world series was scheduled to get going in a Boston-Cleveland twosome with all the panoply and gaiety of old; and a few that are strictly its own.

Not included among the listed features was the weather, which seemed strictly dubious. Otherwise, all was in readiness for a master presentation.

Cleveland's fast-baller Bob Feller will be making the big show for the first time in the opening game for the Indians. Opposing the once invisible man will be the top winner of the year, 24-game Johnny Sain, of the Braves.

Sellout Assured

Braves field, scene of the gaudy occasion, was an assured sellout with a 40,000-plus attendance at 1 p.m. (EST). A new record in total receipts was inevitable, if the series plays itself out to a maximum seven games.

Some good news came from the Boston weather bureau this morning, indicating that the series will get underway per schedule.

Indians Favored

The bureau said the hub should get no more than a sprinkling of rain and that the howling Atlantic nor-easter headed up New England way had veered off to sea.

But just in case the elements reverse their stand, the procedure is to reel in the profusion of advance details and start all over again tomorrow—same time, same place and same cast of curious characters.

The resident Braves weren't given one chance against the American league champion Clevelanders, the betting odds being listed at 12-5 and inclined to kite higher.

Tribe Unmoved

The nonchalant Indians remained unmoved by all the in-

So Braves Find

Place To Stay

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—(INS)—The Boston Braves come to Cleveland Friday to meet the Indians in the third game of the World Series—thanks to the 10th General Hospital Assembly.

The Braves' management, bewildered by the number of possible winners in the American League, had made tentative reservations for hotel rooms in Boston, New York and Cleveland.

When it looked last week as if the Indians would take the title, touring money was made into the creation in the Sixth City. The Braves were astonished to find out apparently nobody had room for them.

Finally a Cleveland hotel came to the rescue of the Beantowners by working out a special agreement with the hospital assembly to postpone their convention a week.

Incidental madness in Boston, including their own contribution of two nights ago.

They're generally expected to win in six games, but that's nothing. They're picking themselves in five.

At that, they have the hitting, the pitching and class. Whereas, the Braves have melancholy and a touch of temper, the latter provided by Eddie Stanky, who has been restored to second base on

Har-Brac First. Tough Class AA Game For 'Canes

Tilt Here Friday Will Test Powerful New Castle High 1948 Squad

Two undefeated football machines, will battle it out Friday night, at Taggart stadium, to see which one stays in the Class AA title picture, New Castle or Har-Brac.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh's "Red Hurricane" undefeated, untied and unscorched on, are really laying it on the line. Har-Brac has run up 56 points in four games and given up 20 to the opposition. New Castle has scored 172 points in the first four and given up none.

Har-Brac Rugged

Har-Brac will bring a team here that has a big tough line headed by Modzelewski, at left tackle, and whale of a lineman and brother of the big 1947 Har-Brac fullback. The Har-Brac backfield is not exactly heavy but rugged and fast.

Har-Brac has defeated the following teams: Sharon 7 to 0; Butler 27 to 0; Ford City 42 to 13; Central Catholic, Pittsburgh 30-7.

The Har-Brac team is coached by the veteran Neil Brown, well known in Western Pennsylvania for turning out tough elevens. Incidentally New Castle has a little revenge to secure on Har-Brac for the 13 to 9 defeat handed New Castle here in the opening game of the 1944 season. This was the last meeting between the two schools.

Keyes-Hansen Back

Bridenbaugh announced today that all of his injured players except Harry Thomas will be ready to face the Har-Bracs. Sammey Keyes will be back at the starting right-half post. Hansen will be in at left tackle in all probability.

"I saw Har-Brac play Butler. They have a big tough club, we expect to have trouble winning this one," Bridenbaugh stated.

Pozza To Fight Pete Graham

Fans who jam The Arenas tonight expect to see a real drama when Frankie Moran, New Castle's knockout artist battles Martin Doyle, of Birmingham, Ala., in a fight listed for eight rounds.

Both clubs have appeared in one classic before this year.

The National league seems to be lucky in the even year series.

In 1946, Cincinnati beat Detroit. St. Louis beat the Yankees in 1943, the Browns in 1944 and the Red Sox in 1946.

If this form holds true the Braves should cop the 1948 classic.

This is the second world series in which Negro ball players will participate.

Last year Jackie Robinson and Dan Bankhead aided the Brooklyn Dodger cause against the New York Yankees.

This year's championship tussle finds Larry Doby, centerfielder, and Satchel Paige, pitcher, as members of the Cleveland Indians.

Casey Stengel, who won with Oakland in the Pacific Coast league this season, is rumored around Boston to have inside track on the job as new manager of the Yankees.

Every member of the Titan team is in top shape for the Thiel clash.

For the second straight week not one major injury was incurred.

Cleveland Rooters Are Glued To Radios

Indians Supporters Ready For Big Welcome Friday For Their Favorites

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Cleveland baseball fans confidently turned to their radios today as their idols, the Indians, opened the world series against the Braves in Boston.

The shouting over Cleveland's first American league pennant in 28 years has subsided, and a pre-game nervous tension developed throughout the city.

Business was kept to a minimum as Clevelanders awaited the cry of "play ball" when Dale Mitchell, Indian left fielder, steps into the batter's box to lead off the Tribe batting lineup.

Real Day Friday

Long before game-time, it was safe to say there will be scarcely a silent radio in the lake city.

But the real day for Cleveland will be Friday when Lou Boudreau and his Tribe come home to battle the Braves in Municipal stadium.

The Indians management is planning to pack 55,000 and more persons into the stadium next Friday and Saturday. If the plans are realized, new baseball attendance records may be written.

Remaining games—At Boston Thursday, Cleveland Friday, Saturday. If necessary at Cleveland Sunday; at Boston Monday and Tuesday.

Indians And Braves Ready For Thrilling World Series

Feller And Sain Will Hook Up In Mound Duel

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)

BOSTON, Oct. 6—(INS)—The world series was scheduled to get going in a Boston-Cleveland twosome with all the panoply and gala circumstance of old; and a few that are strictly its own.

Not included among the listed features was the weather; which seemed strictly dubious. Otherwise, all was in readiness for a master presentation.

Cleveland's fast-baller Bob Feller will be making the big show for the first time in the opening game for the Indians. Opposing the once invisible man will be the top winner of the year, 24-game Johnny Sain, of the Braves.

Sellout Assured

Braves field, scene of the gaudy occasion, was an assured sellout with a 40,000-plus attendance at 1 p.m. (EST). A new record in total receipts was inevitable, if the series plays itself out to a maximum seven games.

Some good news came from the Boston weather bureau this morning, indicating that the series will get underway per schedule.

Indians Favored

The bureau said the hub should get no more than a sprinkling of rain and that the howling Atlantic nor-easter headed up New England may had veered off to sea.

But just in case the elements reverse their stand, the procedure is to reet in the profusion of advance details and start all over again tomorrow—same time, same place and same cast of curious characters.

The resident Braves weren't given one chance against the American league champion Cleveland, the betting odds being listed at 12-5 and inclined to kites higher.

Tribe Unmoved

The nonchalant Indians remained unmoved by all the in-one leg in preference to Sibby Sisty, who has two.

Braves Crippled

Meantime, Mike McCormick, who can't play centerfield, will, in left field will be Milwaukee's Harry Ricker—the injured Jeff Heath's replacement, by special dispensation.

It all added up to a short-end price for the Braves—even for purposes of the opening game. They were quoting 7-5 for that one on Cleveland and Bob Feller, who had a bad season—probably his worst, at 19 and 15—but a great last month.

The Braves were coming with Sain, a pitcher in the prime of his exceptional talent, against a man whose best skills seem gone—and still weren't given an even chance to win.

How They Start

The probable lineups for today's opening game:

Cleveland (AL) Boston (NL)
Mitchell, lf Holmes, rf
Doby, cf Dark, ss
Boudreau, ss Torgeson, 1b
Gordon, 2b Ellott, 3b
Kellner, 3b Ricker, lf
Judd, rf Salkeld, c
Robinson, 1b McCormick, cf
Hegan, c Slansky, 2b
Feller, p Salm, p

Upplies—Barry (NL), first base;
Stuart (NL) 2b; Griffe (AL) 3rd
Philipp (NL), and Paparelli (AL). Alternates on four lines.

ATTEND MEETING IN PITTSBURGH

Present at the dinner, and a speaker, was Edmund Wicht, executive secretary of the PIAA of Harrisburg, and his assistant, Lou Kost.

The dinner and meeting were arranged by Paul Kurlz, together with WPIAL president Mark W. Funk of Latrobe, Pa.

Titan Morale High For Thiel Tussle

(Special to The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 6—There is no morale builder which can compare with victory. This is evident in Westminster college football activities as the team prepares for the Thiel game at Greenfield Saturday. The blue-Jersey boys have adopted a "win 'em all from this point on" as a result of their impressive 20-0 victory over Juniata Saturday.

Fans who watched the contest were impressed with the fine play of the Titans. They suspected the team had potentialities after watching their play against Slippery Rock. The little miseries which stalled the offensive against Slippery Rock were missing in the Juniata game. The backs handled the ball with precision and the blocking was clean and aggressive.

Wharton Clicks

Coach Melvin Hettler has been predicting for the past two years that Dick Wharton, diminutive but speedy fullback, would start ringing up touchdowns. He had his big day against Juniata and Hettler is confident that given the same kind of blocking, he will be a leader in the district's touch-down race.

Hettler reports that the two Juniata players who were painfully injured Saturday were not seriously hurt. After emergency treatment at the Jameson hospital, New Castle, Saturday night they were discharged and accompanied their teammates home.

Every member of the Titan team is in top shape for the Thiel clash. For the second straight week not one major injury was incurred.

OAKLAND SPORTSMEN TO CONVENE TONIGHT

Oakland Sportsmen will hold a regular meeting at eight o'clock tonight at the Oakland Sportsmen's clubhouse, according to Wayne Pitzer. Matters of importance to members are to be discussed.

BIG BUGS

People who try to learn our language find a lot of queer expressions.

We speak of big bugs when we mean people who are wealthy or influential. That kind of big bugs are usually desirable in a community.

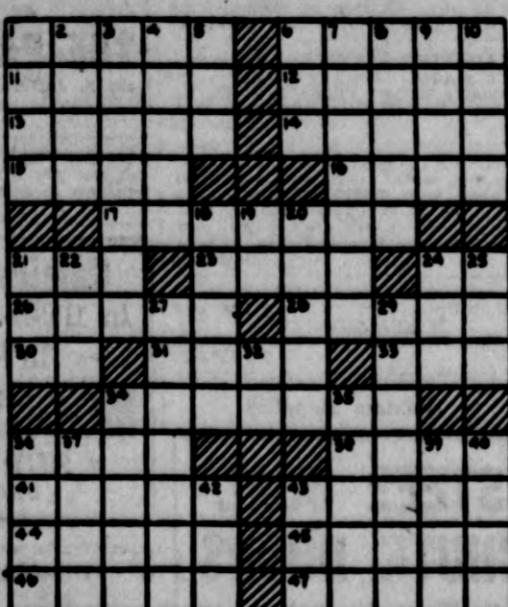

There are other kinds of bugs which do not help much. Bedbugs and roaches are on the bad list.

People who live in single family houses are usually able to keep free of these pests. By filling up all cracks and crevices and keeping up a continual warfare the bugs are banished.

Apartment buildings and multiple family houses are a different problem.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

There'll be a punch party in The Arena tonight, five battles having been carded. . . . Davidson, N. C., has a dual performer. In the day-light hours, Bill Moore is a gladiator, and at night, a policeman. . . . Marcel Cerdan, the new middleweight champion, is back home in France. . . . Penn State passed through 1947 without a defeat which was the first time since 1921. . . . Michigan State thrashed the Nittany Lions, 19-16, two years ago, which was the Lions last defeat. . . . Bill Joffrey is serving his twenty-third year on the coaching staff of Penn State. . . . More than 200 Butler County sportsmen participated in a field day, Saturday. Archery and rifle events were among the popularities staged. George Perotto, former middleweight, is a policeman for an industrial concern in Erie. . . . Dan Sweeney, the last heavyweight to box the late Bob Fitzsimmons, is an expert blacksmith, and now and then turns out novelties which he presents to friends. Here & There has a horseshoe, the result of his work. . . . A good fight would be Sugar Ray Robinson vs. Marcel Cerdan. . . . Jack Onslow, who led the Allegheny Steelers against the Castle Cards here in the 20's has been named to succeed Ted Lyons who served 25 years with the White Sox. His last role was manager. Onslow led the team to second place in the Southern league. Jack is 63 years old. . . . John Anderson, who competed for the New York A. C. in many national track meets, died recently at Noknek, Alaska, at the age of 41. He once held the world's record in the discus and won that title in the Olympics in 1932 with a mark of 162 feet 4 1/2 inches. . . . Third annual AKC licensed field trial of the Shenango Valley Beagle club will be run one-half mile west of Volent, October 8-14, inclusive.

Sport Club Affairs

October 9-14 inclusive: Shenango Valley Beagle club AKC trials, Volent.

October 10, 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.: Lawrence County Sportsman's association trap and skeet shoot, at the Harbor.

Fall crow shoot is to be held by the Mahoning Sportsman's association, Lawrence County Coon & Fox Hunters association, West Pittsburgh Rod & Gun club, Oakland Sportsman's club, Enon Valley Rod & Gun club. Others should contact the council secretary. The date has not been set.

TRAP AND SKEET SHOOT

There will be a trap and skeet shoot tonight at 7 o'clock at the Harbor range of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association, it was announced by Herman Stohr, president.

Frankie Rogel, of North Bradock, Pa., rolled up 849 yards along the ground during Penn State's 1947 football campaign.

New Coach, So Schwenk Has Job

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Wilson (Bud) Schwenk, veteran pass expert, has his job with the New York Football Yankees back thanks to the fact that the team has a new head coach.

Schwenk was fired by Coach Ray Flaherty after being obtained from the Baltimore Colts.

Flaherty recently resigned under pressure. His successor, Red Strader, now has re-hired Schwenk, who last year was the second best passer in the All-American Conference.

People who try to learn our language find a lot of queer expressions.

We speak of big bugs when we mean people who are wealthy or influential. That kind of big bugs are usually desirable in a community.

There are other kinds of bugs which do not help much. Bedbugs and roaches are on the bad list.

People who live in family houses are usually able to keep free of these pests. By filling up all cracks and crevices and keeping up a continual warfare the bugs are banished.

Apartment buildings and multi-family houses are a different problem.

More Leaders In Chest Drive

Chairman Lockley Announces Names Of More Division Leaders For Campaign

Sidney L. Lockley, general chairman of the Community Chest campaign which opens October 13, announced today the following additional division leaders:

Automobile services, Otto Pearson; beauty parlors, Louis D'Gangi; insurance and real estate, David P. McBride; attorneys, Herman W. Green; hotels, Iver V. Morris.

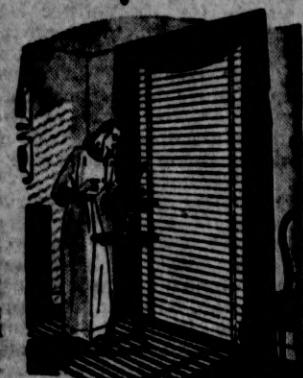

The addition of these division leaders now completes the roster of the thirty-three divisions in the chest. Leaders are now enlisting others to serve in their respective division. Those who will volunteer and devote a few hours' time can assist greatly by calling Telephone No. 2875 and offering their services.

Thirteen Campaigns in One

Mr. Lockley again emphasized that the Chest is not "just another campaign". It is thirteen campaigns in one. If these services were not united in the Chest, each would have to conduct a separate campaign as they did in the old days, before the Chest Federation has these outstanding values. It substitutes order and planning for the chaos of competitive appeals. It reaches more people with the story of health and welfare services, and raises more money for them. It protects the contributor from constant and unrelated appeals to his generosity. It prevents waste of time and leadership, and cuts administrative costs to a minimum. It assures the community of better social planning, without duplication of services. It assures fair allocation of funds by a committee of citizens in a position to judge accurately the relative needs for various types of service. It gives the community an annual account of its stewardship.

Chairman Lockley Announces Names Of More Division Leaders For Campaign

Sidney L. Lockley, general chairman of the Community Chest campaign which opens October 13, announced today the following additional division leaders:

Automobile services, Otto Pearl; beauty parlors, Louis Digrigori; insurance and real estate, David P. McBride; attorneys, Herman W. Green; hotels, Ivor V. Davis.

The addition of these division leaders now completes the roster of the thirty-three divisions in the Chest. Leaders are now enlisting aides to serve in their respective division. Those who will volunteer and devote a few hours' time can assist greatly by calling Telephone No. 2572 and offering their services.

Thirteen Campaigns in One

Mr. Lockley again emphasized that the Chest is not "just another campaign"; it is thirteen campaigns in one. If these services were not united in the Chest, each would have to conduct a separate campaign as they did in the old days, before the Chest. Federation has these outstanding values. It substitutes order and planning for the chaos of competitive appeals. It reaches more people with the story of health and welfare services, and raises more money for them. It protects the contributor from constant and unrelated appeals to his generosity. It prevents waste of time and leadership, and cuts administrative costs to a minimum. It assures the community of better social planning, without duplication of services. It assures fair allocation of funds by a committee of citizens in a position to judge accurately the relative needs for various types of service. It gives the community an annual account of its stewardship.
